The Granite City Council approved the police committee's recommendation to install lights in six Granite City alleys in an attempt to reduce robberies and thefts. The 100-candlepower lights were expected to provide sufficient light to enable a police officer to see from one end of the alley to the other.

Clinton, Gore draw 40,000 people

By Mike Myers
and Paul Thompson
Staff writers

It was hot, crowded and Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton was almost an hour late arriving for his rally in Downtown St. Louis Wednesday, but none of that seemed to dampen the spirits of the crowd.

"Did you ever see such enthusiasm?" asked John Bellicoff, Madison County Democratic Chairman. "There were 40 or 50 thousand people there, all of them cheering their hearts out. I've never seen anything like it in my life."

Clinton, Arkansas' governor, and his running mate, Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, ended their 1,000-mile campaign kick-off trip before a crowd estimated at more than 40,000 surrounding a platform in front of the main St. Louis Public Library.

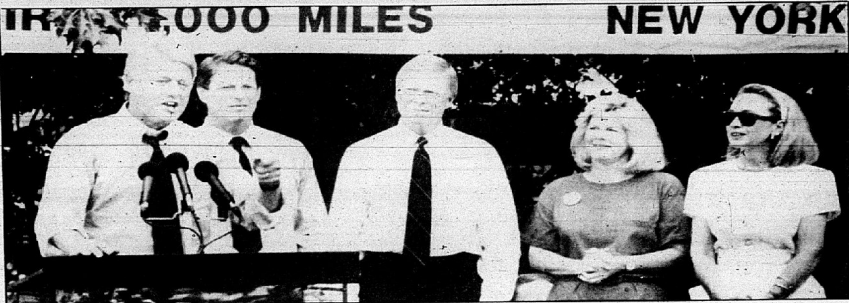

The nominees, flanked by wives Hillary Clinton and Tipper Gore, appealed to Democrats, Republicans and former Ross Perot supporters in their quest to beat President George Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle in the Nov. 3 election.

The crowd cheered, waved signs and chanted. "We want Bill," but Bellicoff said it was obvious that the enthusiasm of the candidates and their wives was even higher than that of the crowd.

"Did you see Tipper doing the twist at the end?" Hillary and Tipper are two fantastic women," Bellicoff said. "And Al Gore, can he fire a crowd up or what?" Then Gov. Clinton just picked up the crowd and took it with him. I believe the crowd listened to every word he said.

Bellicoff said the candidates' wives may be the party's most effective weapon. "Now that this trip is over, everyone will split up to campaign," Bellicoff said. "With Hillary Clinton and Tipper Gore we

Clinton evokes image of Lincoln

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Democratic Presidential candidate Bill Clinton said he couldn't help reflecting on Abraham Lincoln while in the Land of Lincoln on Tuesday.

He said it was a special thrill Tuesday night to stand on the steps of Illinois' first state capitol building in Vandalia and, as Lincoln had done before him, address a crowd of citizens concerned about the future of the country.

Lincoln was a Republican, Clinton said. "But Lincoln is turning over in his grave right now because of the things George Bush and Dan Quayle have done to the Republican party and to the country."

Vandalia, a small town in the heart of traditionally Republican Southern Illinois, was the last stop before St. Louis for Democratic candidates Clinton and Vice-Presidential Candidate Albert Gore's bus caravan through middle America.

A crowd started gathering in Vandalia at noon Tuesday and by the time the caravan arrived at about 9 p.m., the crowd had grown to more than 12,000 people.

Clinton called attention to a sign in the crowd that said "My first vote ever will be for Clinton-Gore" and said that person represented an America that believes the

Appraisals draw criticism

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A firm hired by the city to appraise commercially zoned downtown property targeted for condemnation used residential property in much less traveled areas for comparison.

The firm, Poletti and Associates of Collinsville, was hired by Granite City to estimate the value of downtown tax increment finance district (TIF) property targeted for condemnation. The district is bounded by Madison and Grand avenues and 20th and 21st streets.

Poletti's appraisal of Granite City One-Hour Cleaners at 2009-11 Madison Avenue, an established business on commercially zoned property in the same block as McDonald's and across the street from St. Elizabeth Medical Center's new doctors' office, compared the land's value to residential property in sparsely traveled areas.

Tom Smith, the property owner, said Smith, owner of the dry-cleaning business, said he and the city "are as far apart, on agreeing on a purchase price as you can get."

"There's been no negotiations," Smith said. "They came in one time with a written proposal, and the price offered was less than it cost me to build this place (six years ago). There was no offer to relocate my business, nothing."

Smith said the city's lone offer was the same as what Poletti appraised the property at — about $7 per square foot. Smith said Poletti appraised the property as the "highest and best use" as residential, even though Smith built the building as a business six years ago.

Smith is one of the busiest corners in Granite City, Smith said. "Sixty years ago, property on this block sold for about $14 per square foot."

Smith would know something about property value in the area. His business was located at the present site of McDonald's, at the end of the block, until he sold the land and relocated at his present site, next door to the Clark Service station at 2005 Madison Ave., he said.

Granite City Economic Development Director Alan Orbital said the city "has reached an agreement with Clark for the purchase of that land. He would not discuss details of that agreement."

Poletti appraised the property on the block as if it were residential, and compared the land to property in the 2600 block of Iowa Street, the 2100 block of Cleveland Boulevard, the 2400 block of Grand Avenue, and other more remote residential areas, according to some of the appraisals.

The appraisals say land use change for the property is "not likely" in the future, even though the city plans to purchase the land from the property owners and sell it to a developer for a retail center.

Orbital said Poletti appraised the property as residential because in his opinion, residential use would bring a higher price.

But when qualifying the area for TIF status, one of the criteria the city cited as evidence of "blight" was the fact that commercially zoned property was being used as residential.

Study: Minimal risk from Eticam

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

An independent engineering firm has concluded that, if the proper precautions are taken, a proposed hazardous waste-water treatment plant in Granite City would present a minimal risk to area residents.

But the studying firm also expressed a number of concerns about Elicam's Granite City plans and current operating procedures in other plants in Nevada and Rhode Island.

Eticam has applied to the Illinois and U.S. Environmental Protection Agencies for a permit to operate a hazardous waste-water treatment plant, to be located on Illinois 3 about one-half mile from Prather Elementary School. The Granite City School Board, former superintendent Gib Walmesley and the Prather parent-teacher organization have expressed concern about the proximity of the proposed plant to the school and the threat to children's safety in the event of an accident.

The study, which evaluates potential risks involved with the proposed plant and makes recommendations to further reduce potential hazards, was conducted by Sverdrup Corporation of St. Louis at the request of the City Council. The city paid $17,000 for the study. A copy of the 285-page report was forwarded to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for its consideration in the permitting process.

Cruse said a copy of the report was sent to IEPA before anyone on the city staff had a chance to look at it.

"The way this has been handled, I don't think anyone can question the number of stop signs in the city," 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen said when proposing the override. "But one of the only ways we have to curb traffic, to slow down traffic, is a stop sign."

"If it saves one child's life, it's worth it," Worthen said.

The ordinance did not create a "new" stop sign at the corner of Primrose and Prairie avenues, 7th Ward Alderman Sandy Crises, chairman of the City Council Traffic committee, said, but switched the location of two present signs to different corners at the same intersection.

"Instead of putting two more signs up, we are switching them to better regulate traffic," Crises said.

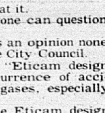

Cruse vetoed the ordinance June 30 by refusing to sign it after the council passed it June 23. He said there are too many stop signs in the city and

Interim clerk will be named today

By Angie Cairns
Staff writer

The Madison County circuit judges, along with Chief Judge Paul Riley, will announce today, Thursday, the name of the interim Madison County circuit clerk, Riley said Wednesday.

The interim clerk will replace William "Butch" Portell who died Sunday night at the age of 75.

As of Wednesday afternoon, the group had come to a general consensus on who to appoint but had not yet taken a formal vote, Riley said.

Portell served as the county's circuit clerk since 1960 and was to have retired in December.

The interim clerk will replace Portell until the winner of the general election in November takes office in December, Riley said.

There is a state statute that dictates how a clerk must be appointed, Riley said. "That statute, however, does not contain any time parameters," he said.

The circuit judges looked at about five or six candidates for the interim post, Riley said Wednesday. All those considered are already employed in the circuit clerk's office, including the person tentatively selected.

Choosing someone from the same office will help make the transition a bit easier, Riley said.

Council overrides Mayor's sign veto

Mayor Von Dee Cruse's veto of a stop sign ordinance was unanimously overridden by the City Council Tuesday night.

Police seeking three in I-255 robbery

By Jim Merkel
Staff writer

State police are looking for three men who flashed their car's lights to convince travelers from West Plains, Mo., to pull over early last Friday, and then robbed the group.

The four victims were held up by three black males who approached their car around 12:30 a.m. on the northbound lane of Interstate 255 about a half mile north of the Columbia exit, State Police Lt. Wayne Watson said.

"They were northbound when they noticed a car to the rear and that car was flashing its headlights," said Watson, who is zone commander for the state police Division of Criminal Investigation, based in Collinsville.

"I think the people were under some belief that they were being pulled over by police," Watson said.

After two of the three males who approached their car displayed a handgun, they took valuables, including wallets and purses, Watson said.

"They also took the victims' keys, so they couldn't follow them," he said.

Watson wouldn't release the names of the victims, but said they included a 37-year-old female, her 15-year-old son, an 18-year-old niece and a 78-year-old friend.

No one was injured in the group, which was headed to northern Illinois, Watson said.

The travelers kept their cool during the incident, Watson said, but afterward "they were shaken and rightfully so."

A vehicle that matched the description and license plate given by the victims was later found by state police on State Street, in the vicinity of East St. Louis.

"There is no one in custody at this time," Watson said, adding that his department is following up some leads.

"We've got a person that we're looking at, but not good enough to get a warrant," he said.

While the incident began south of the Monroe County line, it is being handled by the St. Clair County State's Attorney's Office, since the robbery itself took place in St. Clair County, Watson said.

This kind of incident hasn't happened in a year or two, Watson said.

Watson said that if people have any doubt whether they are being pulled over by police, should travel to a lighted area where they feel comfortable about pulling over, as long as they don't increase their speed or do anything threatening.

Miller was asked to take field sobriety tests, which included a breathalyzer examination, and was

Blood drive set for Aug. 6 at SEMC

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., in Granite City will host a community blood drive sponsored by the American Red Cross, Thursday, Aug. 6 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., in the Kettler gym.

"During the summer, the demand for blood becomes even more critical. We hope to collect at least 100 units of blood," said Ruth Ann Gabriel, SEMC blood drive chairperson.

The Kettler gym is easily accessible from the Washington Avenue parking lot. Participants can park in the lot, come into the main Kettler Center entrance and take the elevators or stairs down to the gym, where the blood drive will be held.

Donors must be at least 17 years old, in good health and weigh more than 110 pounds.

"Participating in the blood drive is a good way to spend an hour. It is volunteer work you can do lying down," Gabriel said. "Whole blood can be separated into components to treat specific medical conditions. That way several patients can benefit from a single donated unit."

Benefactors of blood donations range from accident victims to hemophiliacs, to patients undergoing chemotherapy, elective surgery or organ transplants.

"Every 10 seconds, someone, somewhere needs blood," Gabriel said. "In the Bi-State area alone, 5000 units a week are needed to meet the needs of 140 hospitals in 80 Missouri and Illinois counties. Refreshments including Domino's pizza, will be served after you give blood. Door prizes will be awarded throughout the drive."

For more information about the drive call 268-3122.

future can be better. Several times, Clinton modified what has become his standard "stump speech" to appeal for a broad base of support.

Saying the United States is without affordable health care, a good public education system and has lost its jobs that pay well, Clinton said "it doesn't take a Democrat to see that the country is headed in the wrong direction."

Clinton urged Republicans and supporters of Independent Ross Perot to join with the Democrats and "elect a ticket that will get this country going again."

Clinton said his wife, Hillary, had given him a book dealing with psychology about a year ago and "Do you know what it said the definition of insanity is?"

Insanity is doing the same old thing over and over and over again and expecting a different outcome each time. Well that's what George Bush has done.

The 1,000-mile bus trip, which started immediately after the Democratic Convention in New York, ended with a rally Wednesday afternoon in St. Louis.

Illinois Attorney General Roland Burris, U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin of Springfield and Illinois Democratic candidate Carol Mosley Braun joined the caravan for its final leg across Illinois.

Clinton said federal investments must be made in job creation, education and health care.

"We want everybody to get rich by putting the American people to work," Clinton said.

Clinton and Gore peppered their remarks with shots at Bush and Quayle, bringing roars of crowd approval.

"The president goes to Japan and the Japanese prime minister says he feels sympathy for the United States. When I'm your president and Al Gore's your vice president, people will look up to us with respect, not down on us with sympathy."

Clinton said he did not believe in "the other side" and that he believed in "the American people."

Girl Scout camp gets housing units

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

The Pumpkin Patch at Girl Scout Camp Torqua is sprouting buildings, not pumpkins, after construction began on a winterized housing unit and program center.

"This is truly amazing," said Mary Griggs, executive director of the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, as she watched construction just prior to a ground-breaking ceremony.

The ceremony at the camp, just outside Edwardsville, was purely symbolic as workers had already begun excavation and even had some concrete laid.

"They said they were going to start and they did," said Richard Vahl of O'Fallon, chairman of the council's building committee. "They seem to be moving really fast."

The $350,000 project is being managed by the Korte Construction Co. with work being subcontracted to more than 15 other local businesses. Plans call for two sleeping cabins which will accommodate 60 people and a program building with kitchens, showers and flush toilets.

The days of the latrine are over, Griggs said. "Much to the delight of most of our girls and us, too."

The buildings, designed by architects from the Christner Partnership, will be arranged in a circle and connected by a large deck. Construction is to be completed by Oct. 15 on the $350,000 project in which only one tree will be lost.

"We plan to start using it right away," said Griggs.

The camp currently has three scout buildings and an open multi-purpose center, all of which can be used only during warmer weather, Griggs said. Those facilities can only hold about 30 Scouts at a time.

"With the new buildings we can have more than one troop at a time and people won't have to be fighting for the same eight or nine weeks of the year," Griggs said.

The buildings will also provide for an expansion of the Scout's discovery program as well as allowing for adult training in a variety of areas including CPR.

The River Bluffs Girl Scout Council serves more than 10,000 girls and 2,500 adults in Madison, St. Clair, Jersey, Calhoun and Monroe counties as well as parts of Macoupin, Clinton and Randolph counties.

Bumper potato crop — Stanley Hecht of Pontoon Beach shows off a small part of his 240-pound potato crop that he grew in his garden on Breckenridge Lane. Hecht said he will give his excess potatoes to an area food pantry.

Spaying program focuses on saving puppies, kittens

A pilot program to spay or neuter very young kittens and puppies is intended to keep them from being destroyed.

"We think it will help to get more of the animals adopted," said Ledy Van Kavage of Collinsville, president of the Madison County Humane Society.

"And if we improve their adoptability, fewer of them will be destroyed."

On July 18, four male kittens and two female kittens between 10 and 18 weeks old were neutered or spayed at the St. Louis Pet Clinic. The usual age is about 6 months.

"They perked up right away," Van Kavage said. "The boys were jumping around within two hours. Three of the male kittens have since been adopted."

Early spaying and neutering is controversial because opponents feel that the animals aren't developed enough before 6 months of age.

"We've read some wonderful articles about it, but some of our board members were concerned about the safety of the procedure," Van Kavage said. "With the pilot program we'll be in a position to show the results to the board. The procedure went well and the animals are doing great. If we get the funding, we may want to start this sometime down the road."

Anyone wishing to contribute money for the spaying and neutering of kittens and puppies should call the Madison County Humane Society at 656-4405 or Box 1, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

In 1992, 204 dogs and 176 cats were destroyed at Madison County Animal Control.

Churchich shifts gears, reallocates patrol vehicles

Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich is taking some ammunition away from county officials aiming at his department's vehicle policy.

"I've made some adjustments, but it's working a hardship on the Sheriff's Department," he said Tuesday, referring to a reallocation of the more than 70 cars in his department.

This week Churchich dropped the department's long-standing policy whereby personnel took a county car home every night. Several administrators, bailiffs and other personnel, including a maintenance man, lost their 24-hour-a-day access to county-owned cars.

Now only deputies take cars home, the sheriff said.

Some County Board members have attacked the take-home policy as wasteful, but Churchich has stood his ground, crediting the practice for deterring street crime and making deputies available faster in emergencies.

"All road deputies still take cars home, and that's because the minute they step out of the house they are 10-48, which means they are on call and ready for duty," Churchich said.

For example, he said, after a recent gas leak in Hamel, deputies who lived in that vicinity had to be called at home to help evacuate the area.

"If they wouldn't have had those cars available at their houses, they wouldn't have been able to respond nearly as fast," Churchich said.

The reallocation of vehicles was necessary after the county Finance Committee rejected Churchich's appeal for five new squad cars for deputies to patrol Godfrey Village officials hired the county to patrol.

Cars formerly driven by top department administrators and bailiffs were shifted to lieutenant supervisors, Churchich said.

The supervisors' cars were handed over to patrol sergeants, while some of the sergeants' cars were moved to Godfrey.

"It's unfortunate. The morale on the Sheriff's Department is not as high as it was two weeks ago," Churchich said.

The new patrols are under way in Godfrey, where veteran officers are breaking in new recruits, the sheriff said.

Those cars are now available for (Godfrey) deputies," he said.

It was not clear whether Finance Committee members still intend to question Churchich on the vehicle issue at a Thursday committee meeting.

Earlier this week, committee Chairman Bill Little, an Alton Democrat, said the sheriff still needed to answer some questions about the use of vehicles.

Little, however, could not be reached for comment.

The committee is expected to approve County Auditor Fred Bathon's request for $75,500 to hire an outside firm to analyze vehicle inventory lists submitted by all county departments, including the sheriff, committee member Jack Frandsen said.

Little and Frandsen have said they plan to expand the focus of the committee's inquiry to include all departments that have access to county-owned vehicles.

Board may expand vehicle probe

The county sheriff may not be the only official under the gun for doing out county-owned vehicles to employees, County Board members say.

"We're not singling out the sheriff," said Jack Frandsen, D-Alton. "He'll, Lanny Darr's got four cars all to himself. What's he need them for?"

He can only drive one at a time," Frandsen is a member of the board's Finance Committee.

Darr, the county's Emergency Management Department director, was expected to be called before the Finance Committee today (Thursday) to justify the need for four county vehicles in his one-man department, Frandsen said Monday.

Darr, however, said the vehicles were used by other departments. Two are used by the buildings and community development departments to haul mattresses, food and other emergency supplies. A third truck is used in a maintenance department recycling program, and Darr drives the fourth vehicle, he said.

Committee Chairman Bill Little, D-Alton, predicted other department heads also would be called on to explain use of county-owned cars.

But County Sheriff Bob Churchich and his 75-vehicle fleet are still the center of attention, Little said.

The sheriff and about 35 other last week with County Auditor Fred Bathon's demand for detailed lists of the vehicles in their possession and who uses them, County Administrator Jim Monday confirmed.

The lists, which detail the serial numbers, make and model of more than 120 vehicles, have yet to be analyzed, he said.

Bathon's request for $7,500 to hire an outside firm to examine the lists was delayed late last month while the auditor and committee members waited for the department heads to turn over their lists.

Now that the lists have been submitted, Frandsen and other committee members predicted Bathon's request would win easy approval in today's committee meeting. Bathon has said an outside firm is needed because his office lacks the manpower and time to do the study.

Eliminating the sheriff's take-home policy, Bathon has estimated, could save the county $500,000 over three years.

Little indicated the lists led to the expanded focus of the Finance Committee inquiry.

"There are some questions yet to be answered by some of the other (department heads). Of course, they don't have near the same number of cars as the sheriff. I don't think we have the same problems in the other departments but they do deserve scrutiny," Little said.

Encephalitis seen as possible area danger

SPRINGFIELD Tests on birds indicate a higher potential for deadly St. Louis encephalitis in Madison County this summer.

A county bird was among several of 75 tested in 12 Southern Illinois counties that tested positive for the virus which is spread to humans by culex mosquitoes.

So far this year, no cases of the disease have been reported in humans, according to the Illinois Department of Public Health.

However, Public Health officials are warning of an increased risk of an outbreak because only one positive test on a bird was recorded between 1988 and 1991.

At this point there is no need for undue alarm, but it is time for increased awareness, surveillance and control activities," health director Dr. John Lumpkin said.

Most people bitten by an infected mosquito do not develop any symptoms of encephalitis, which is an inflammation of the brain.

Symptoms of the disease usually occur within 15 days after the bite and can range from a slight fever or headache to severe aches and disorientation.

Mounds to cut hours this winter

By Angie Cairns
Staff writer

The state's continuing budget problems may force those planning to visit Cahokia Mounds Historic Site this winter to change their vacation schedules.

The Mounds will be closed on Mondays and Tuesdays during December, January and February, said Assistant Site Manager Paul Nixon.

The new schedule is a result of a 22 1/2 percent budget reduction for the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency, said David Blanchette, spokesman for the agency.

The reduction will also affect other historic sites such as Lincoln's New Salem Log Cabin Village and the Cahokia Courthouse in Cahokia, Blanchette said.

The possibility that Cahokia Mounds would have to be closed on some days had been under consideration, Nixon said.

Attendance during those months is usually very low.

Cahokia Mounds has been open seven days a week except for six holidays, Nixon said. Those holidays—Christmas, New Year's Day, Thanksgiving, Veterans Day, Presidents Day and Martin Luther King Jr. Day—will still be observed under the new schedule.

Hours will continue to be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. under the new schedule.

Although the budget reduction is disappointing news, Blanchette said, "We are still able to keep all of our sites accessible to the public."

'Dignity' runners aim for Mounds today

By Mike Chambers
Staff writer

Runners from a Peace and Dignity Journeys 1992, a relay run involving American Indians and commemorating 500 years of survival for the American Indian culture, will be traveling down U.S. Business 40 to Cahokia Mounds Historic Site sometime today (Thursday).

Eight runners began their journey from Indianapolis Saturday morning.

Carol Jones, an organizer of the event, says a tree-planting ceremony is planned to mark the runners' arrival at Cahokia Mounds—if the runners have any trees left by then.

The runners have been planting trees at various stops along the route and so it wasn't clear if they had any left, Jones said from Indianapolis Monday.

Area residents are invited to take part in the relay run Jones said.

Jones said the runners will be traveling along U.S. 40 for most of the trip. If local residents want to join in, she recommends driving the route to locate the runners first, since there is no way to accurately estimate the runners' progress from day to day.

A lead runner will be carrying a ceremonial staff with an eagle feather attached to it. Jones said local runners should respect Indian ceremony and run behind the staff carrier.

The run is a "non-competitive relay," which means runners take turns, with a car or truck carrying the rest of them. Jones said the group will have at least two people running at all times.

This run is in conjunction with the intercontinental Peace and Dignity Journeys 1992 which began at two points on the continent May 2 and will converge in Mexico City in October.

The Better Breathers Club met on Tuesday, July 14, at 1 p.m. in the President Room, St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Jerry Casson, field coordinator for Senior Companions, was the speaker. She spoke about the Belleville Area College Granite City Campus Retired Senior Volunteer Program, explaining the benefits seniors receive by taking part in working and donating time helping the elderly and visiting and caring for those confined in their homes. A business session followed. Those enjoying the luncheon prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary were Karen Lewis, of Carol Smith, Mary Terry, Jack Smith, John M. Barnes, James Noe, Frank and Shirley Wendel, Orval Femmer, Glen Bettorf, Margaret Utz, Pearl Kamadutski, Dan McDowell, Dave Sheppard, Ellen Knackstedt, Dottie Martin and Maxine Green.

And being around stars is part of the fun. During practice, she's been able to watch Phyllis Diller, who plays the Wicked Witch of the West. "She seems really nice," Angeline said. "She's just a cute, little, old lady. You'd never think she was a star because she just walks around like everybody else." Maggie enjoys the feeling of being on stage, and doesn't plan to have stage fright opening night. "I'm used to performing in front of a lot of people," she said.

Julia likes being a Munchkin, and so does Caroline. "It's lots of fun," Caroline said, "except we wear weird outfits like little dresses."

Historian seeks Lewis & Clark anecdotes

An area historian, educator and author seeks information on persons or families who lived near Lewis and Clark's original Illinois encampment during the fall of 1803 through spring of 1804.

Larry Underwood, a Lewis and Clark Community College history instructor from Meppen, is doing research for an article about the Christmas of 1803 at the site.

Meriwether Lewis and William Clark established a winter camp in 1803 near where the river "Wood" (near Hartford) flows into the Mississippi River opposite the mouth of the Missouri River.

Underwood is looking for people who may remember a grandparent or great-grandparent relating anecdotes about the party of approximately 45 explorers who trained at the site for the rigorous journey.

"I hope to find someone who recalls family members talking about ancestors who may have lived near the area and sold or provided food and supplies to the training party stationed at the site."

Word-of-mouth stories will probably be the best source of information," Underwood said.

Underwood, who teaches History of Illinois at Lewis and Clark, began researching the expedition in 1975. His new book, "Guns, Gold and Glory," contains a section on George Drouillard, Lewis and Clark's interpreter, and John Colter, an original member of the expedition.

Information on the expedition gathered by Underwood will be incorporated into the Illinois History class at Lewis and Clark. In addition to authoring filmstrip material, five books and more than 70 articles, he is a Brussels High School teacher with 29 years experience. Since 1986 he has been a part-time instructor at Lewis and Clark.

As our nation approaches the 200th Anniversary of this momentous expedition, increasing interest and attention is being focused on the party. Our region is a focal point. We can use this time of heightened interest in the explorers to share and impart valuable historical information."

For more information or to register call the Lewis and Clark Enrollment Center at (618) 466-3411. Underwood may be reached by calling (812) 217-01 ext. 4753.

Hearing today on Clinton Power Station

A government report card says the Clinton Power Station improved performance in four of seven areas in 1991 and scored the highest ratings possible in plant operations and emergency preparedness.

The nuclear-powered electricity generating plant is operated by Illinois Power Co.

The NRC will discuss the ratings at a public hearing July 23 at the Clinton plant.

The annual, systematic assessment of licensee performance is conducted by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. The report covers the period from Feb. 1, 1991, to April 30, 1992.

During that period, Clinton set a national record for its reactor class with 253 days of consecutive operation and underwent part of a 91-day refueling outage.

In all, Clinton improved its NRC scores in four areas and remained the same in three. The NRC noted improvements in those three but said they were insufficient to change the ratings. The report showed no declining ratings.

In a letter accompanying the report, NRC Regional Administrator A. Bert Davis wrote, "It is my view that your conduct of nuclear activities was good and demonstrated a strong commitment to safety and a conservative operating philosophy."

John Cook, IP vice president for nuclear operations and Clinton plant manager, was pleased with the report.

"It's a fair evaluation," he said. "It points out areas where we tried to make improvements, particularly improvements in operations, which is key to running a nuclear power plant."

"We will continue to focus on improvements in these and other areas," Cook said.

The report identifies areas the NRC says require additional attention. Among them are communication among departments at Clinton and timely resolution of problems.

Clinton was evaluated in seven areas and graded by categories one, two or three, with one the highest rating.

The NRC rated Clinton personnel one in plant operations and emergency preparedness; two with an improving trend in maintenance/surveillance and security; and two in radiological controls, engineering/technical support and safety assessment/quality verification.

MR. COMFORT

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a couple obtains a divorce (dissolution of marriage), usually one parent is awarded custody of the children, and the non-custodial parent is ordered to pay child support. Sometimes the parents decide themselves to reduce the child support obligation of the non-custodial parent without court approval. The question arises in these cases as to whether such agreements are binding.

In one recent case, the husband and wife were divorced in 1987, and the wife was awarded custody of the two minor children. The father was ordered to pay $110 per week in child support, and after twelve months, the amount of support was to be increased to $150 per week.

Subsequent to the time the marriage was dissolved, the father's hours were reduced at work, and he once again began paying $110 per week instead of $150 per week. He claimed that his ex-wife agreed to this reduction.

This former wife testified at trial that she refused to sign the proposed agreement. Later a second agreement was prepared, and apparently the mother of the children also refused to sign this document.

The trial court found that the parties had an agreement to reduce the father's support obligation. The court entered an order reducing his child support to $110 per week retroactive to the time he began paying this reduced amount. The ex-wife took the case in appeal since she felt he owed her the difference in child support for the entire period of time he reduced his payments.

The Appellate Court noted that the modification of child support is a judicial function, administered exclusively by the court as a matter of discretion. Furthermore, the court stated that it was not bound by agreements providing for child support entered into by the parties without judicial approval.

In this case, the Appellate Court held that the parties did not have an agreement to reduce support payments. It further held that even if the parties did enter into such an agreement, it was unenforceable because there was never judicial approval of the agreement. Therefore, the former husband owed the substantial amount of back child support from the period of time he voluntarily reduced payments.

Branding family reunites here

Louis and Paul Branding were born and reared in Granite City, with three sisters and a younger brother.

But after World War II the entire family scattered.

Louis met and married a Florida girl and stayed in business in Orlando, Fla.

Paul married Velma Brinkoff of Granite City and business kept them traveling until they finally settled in Nashville, Tenn.

The three girls married and moved: Melba to New York state, Wilma to Iowa and Virginia to Connecticut.

Earl, the youngest, became a doctor in Caro, Mich.

Every two years the brothers and sisters and their families would get together — sometimes in Florida, sometimes in New York, sometimes in Michigan, sometimes in Tennessee, once at Lake of St. Louis. But always every two years they'd be together.

This year they decided to go home to Granite City and gather their relatives — Brandings, Rommans, Romans, Emles and their old friends for a big celebration. Relatives and friends came from Texas, Louisiana, Georgia, Iowa, Michigan, Tennessee, Florida, Chicago, La Crosse, Mo., Wentzville, Mo., Carlinville, Ill., the suburbs of St. Louis and even Granite City to be with the children of Louis and Freda Branding who had come from all over.

Jump from bridge ruled accidental

Unable to determine whether or not a Granite City man intended to kill himself in a jump last month from the Chain of Rocks Road bridge, Madison County coroner's jury ruled the death accidental.

The ruling followed an inquest Wednesday into the death of Carlton J. Turner Sr., 45.

Turner reportedly jumped from the bridge about 4:45 p.m. June 19. Several of his children testified that he suddenly stopped the van on the bridge, self. Three of his children testified that they and friends went with their father after the group decided to swim in the lake, a frequent activity.

Both Tina Turner and Carlton Turner Jr. said that their father had talked about killing himself, weeks before his death, at which time the son had threatened to kill him. Both of Turner's sons denied those claims Wednesday.

Turner was pronounced dead at 5:10 a.m. June 21 after the pilot of the Senator Sam tubboat located the body and pushed it to the bank about 100 feet south of the bridge. The official cause of death was drowning.

While several of his family members said that Turner had been drinking, all of them testified that he was not drunk. However, toxicological testing showed that Turner's blood alcohol level was .253, nearly three times the legal level of .08 intoxication of 10.

Detective Scott Sandridge of the Madison County Sheriff's Department said that his agency had completed its investigation of Turner's death.

Jeff Worthen, chairman of the City Council's Planning, Zoning and Engineering Committee, called the recommendations "worthwhile," and said he hoped the EPA passed those findings along to Eticam officials.

It wasn't a rubber-stamp type of deal any one who reads the report can tell (Sverdrup) their own homework," Worthen said.

Among the Sverdrup recommendations are upgrading the efficiency of the proposed scrubbers for the stacks at the plant, raising the stack height to 100 feet above ground to minimize "downwash" exposure to nearby residents, adding pressure and vacuum relief mechanisms on tanks and vent lines, analysis of each arriving batch of waste prior to unloading, review of the adequacy of size of vent lines and their potential for "back-up" of waste, the event of an overflowing, temperature regulation to prevent the generation of ammonia, venting the truck bay area to the scrubber, adopt safeguards to prevent the misdirection of material to "reactors" where cyanide/acid mixing could occur, and expansion of methods of traffic control on Illinois 3 to minimize the potential for an accident there.

A copy of the Sverdrup report will be made available for public inspection at the Granite City District Library and in City Clerk Bob Stevens' office in City Hall.

Motorists reminded of July sticker deadline

SPRINGFIELD Secretary of State George H. Ryan on Tuesday reminded passenger car owners who have license plates expiring in July to buy their renewal stickers at one of 21 locations around the state or at a financial institution that sells stickers.

It is now too late to mail applications and guarantee delivery of stickers before the July 31 expiration date.

July 1992 stickers may be purchased locally in Granite City at approximately 2,100 financial institutions statewide for a slight additional fee.

The new, blue sticker is attached to the back of the ID card. To protect your sticker from possible theft, remove as many of the old stickers as possible before placing the new sticker at the bottom of the rear plate.

Eticam

appears reasonably thoughtful and responsible Eticam's operating history in Nevada and Rhode Island is by no means perfect, but appears to reflect an acceptable level of responsibility and community concern.

The report indicates a section outlining the operating history of existing Eticam facilities in Fernley, Nev., and in Providence, R.I.

There have been a significant number of deficiencies, violations and accidents at both Eticam facilities, the report says. While most of the deficiencies involve record-keeping and not some of the more significant incidents listed in the report include one instance of training: a short-term failure of a hydrogen cyanide monitoring system, causing a mixing tank to overflow in February of 1990.

resulting in a small release of hydrogen cyanide. The report notes that a scrubber prevented the release from being greater.

An October 1989 incident of peroxide overpressure resulting in slight hydrogen cyanide emissions; a Dec. 1991 release of nitrogen dioxide; a need to upgrade the nitrogen control system in Rhode Island; and a processing tank explosion in March 1989 in Rhode Island.

Some of the incidents resulted in any harm to nearby residents, according to the report.

2nd TREND social activity set for Friday

The second summer TREND activity for Granite City students who will be entering the 7th and 8th grades will be held Friday, July 24.

This activity will take place from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Township Hall. The theme will be "Enjoying the Dog Days of Summer." There will be dancing, board games, attendance prizes, and refreshments. Joe Yurko will serve as deejay.

Admission to TREND activities is a 50-cent donation. All donations will be used for future TREND activities.

TREND centers around encouraging positive alternatives for community youth. The Granite City TREND chapter has been organized as one of the activities in the $90,000 Police Department anti-drug grant, which has as one of its goals the implementation of drug-free activities for students.

Kay Rollins of Parents Plus at Mental Health Services is chairperson of a 26-member parent and teacher planning committee.

The Granite City TREND chapter signed up 39 charter members. They are:

Rosanna Gordon, Kristy March, Emily Markel, Stephanie Morlen, Kristine Raynor, Kath-

The chaperones at the first activity on June 27 were Kay Rollins, Carol Hildebrand, Judy Reidelberger, Goni Michaleff, Bill and Georgia Snell, Karen Cooper, Daren DePew, Debbie Goskie, Rich Ahlvers, Sonda Devany, Sheila Porter, Cindy Castle, Nick Huniak, Jim Jeffries.

Three high school students worked the refreshment table: Wendy Civar, Sabina Kumar and Bob Castle.

Refreshments, attendance prizes, and other donations for the June 27 activity included t-shirts from Dave's Movies, juice, cups, and two Warrior squeeze bottles from McDonald's, 300 hamburgers from Hollen Meat, and $10 for games from Wal-Mart. Attend-dance prizes also included TREND t-shirts, frisbees and key chains.

The final summer activity will be a pool party on Aug. 7 from 9 to 11 p.m. at Paddlers.

All community teens who will be in the 7th and 8th grades next year at Coolidge, Grigsby, Holy Family and St. Elizabeth schools are invited to become charter members. Students who did not attend the June activity are reminded to bring one kind of identification verifying their 7th and 8th grade level. Students who were issued membership cards at the June 27 event should bring them for identification purposes.

Activities beginning in September will be planned by student charter members who attend the summer activities with assistance from the TREND Planning Committee.

TREND, an acronym for Turning Recreational Excitement in New Directions, is a movement that was created by teens who were frustrated by the current "party scene." These students felt a real lack of opportunity to socialize without the pressure to drink and use other drugs.

The Granite City TREND chapter has been awarded a $500 grant from the United Way Youth Board.

Area student on Butler dean's list

Robert R. Haack of Granite City, a sophomore studying actuarial science, was named to the dean's list at Butler University for the spring semester of the 1991-92 academic year.

Undergraduate students carrying at least 12 academic hours in a given semester are eligible to be placed on the dean's list.

Officers installed

Beta Nu Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority held its Installation of Officers July 9 at Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant.

A report was made on the National Convention held in Oklahoma City in June. Seven members attended: Dorothy Hinson, Norma Hillmer, Kate Buechele, Judy Modrusic, Jane Modrusic, Louise Foley, and Roseann Koelker.

At the late Saturday night party which was a "50s Dance," Koelker and Jane Modrusic won the "twist" contest.

Officers for the Beta Nu Chapter for 1992-93 were installed by the retiring president Kate Buechele. Officers are: president Judy Modrusic, vice president Koelker, recording secretary, Jane Modrusic, social secretary Patricia Harniss, treasurer Layelle Stephens, scribe Cindy Yob, sergeant-at-arms Pauling Mersinger, and historian Kate Buechele.

Jager's mom having visions of more gold in Barcelona

By David Wilhelm
Staff writer

Some people have bad dreams and are afraid to leave the house. Harriet Jager has good dreams and can't wait to depart for Barcelona, Spain.

Barcelona is the site of this year's Summer Olympics, which begin Saturday. These days, the Olympics and Jager — Harriet's swimming son Tom Jager, to be exact — are synonymous.

Tom, the 27-year-old native of Collinsville, will compete in his third Summer Olympics during swimming competition next Thursday and Friday. He is one of three metro-east athletes competing. The others are East St. Louis Jackie Joyner-Kersey (heptathlon and long jump) and Mascoutah's Davyrr Plab (high jump).

Granite City's Steve Trittschul competed for the U.S. soccer team at the 1988 Seoul Olympics, but there is an age limit of 23 now for Olympic soccer. Trittschul is 27.

Jager's 1990 time of 21:34 in the 50-meter freestyle is a world record. Harriet has good vibrations about Tom and the Olympics, and they're too strong to ignore.

"I keep dreaming and thinking we're going to be celebrating," she said. "I keep seeing us having this big dinner, and the champagne is flowing. It's really funny, but that's the way I feel."

Harriet realizes she's going out on a limb with such a confession. Many people laugh and immediately discard such futuristic visions as nonsense. Usually, Harriet is among them.

But not this time. "I don't have many psychic times like this," she said. "Everything seems to be looking up. I'm hoping for the best."

Jager advanced to Barcelona at the March 3 Olympic Trials in Indianapolis.

In the 50 free, he qualified by placing second to top rival and U.S. teammate Matt Biondi. Jager also earned a spot on the 4 x 100-meter free relay team by placing fourth in the 100 free.

Jager competed in the 1984 and 1988 Olympics in Los Angeles and Seoul, South Korea, respectively. But no matter how many times her son qualifies, it doesn't get routine for Harriet.

"You never really get used to it," she said. "I think you could go every four years for a long time."

In '84, Jager was an alternate on the 4 x 100-meter free relay team that won the gold medal in Los Angeles.

In '88, Jager won the silver in the 50 free, was a member of the gold-winning (and record-setting) 4 x 100 free relay team and an alternate on the 4 x 100 medley relay team that won the gold.

Tom's first action at the Olympics will be next Thursday, when the 4 x 100 relay team races. His teammates will be the 26-year-old Biondi, of Oakland, Calif.; Jon Olson, 22, of Jonesboro, Ark.; and Joe Hudepohl, 18, of Cincinnati.

The 50 free competition will be next Friday.

The 50 free competition will be next Friday.

There will be a boat raffle, a limited edition DU shotgun raffle and auctions. Many items are limited editions and may be obtained only at a DU dinner.

All proceeds go to DU and are tax deductible. For tickets or more information, call Tony Zedolick at 876-8526 or Mike McLean at 931-2969.

The Tri-Cities Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will hold its 15th annual banquet Aug. 22.

The banquet will be at St. Gregory's Hall on Colonial Drive in Granite City. Registration will be at 5 p.m., with the dinner beginning at 6:30. Dinner tickets are $40 per couple or $30 per single, with each including a $20 annual membership to DU.

Collinsville's Jamie Casillas scored seven goals. She had a hat trick in a 4-2 win over Blue-Gray, then pumped in four more in a 3-0 win over Windy City. Granite City's Terry Schuler and Angie Moore were next with three points each.

The Open Women have now won two golds, two silvers and four bronzes and have an overall 23-6-2 record in Champaign.

The Scholastic Women outscored the opposition 14-1 in pool play before taking the gold with a 3-1 penalty kick decision over North Shore.

"That was the big one," said Briggs, who coached that team.

North Shore had won the gold seven years in a row.

With Collinsville players on his side, Briggs had to feel confident when the scoreless game had to be decided on penalty kicks. The Lady Kahoks have earned the rabbit's foot three times in sectional finals with Granite City. True to form, Becky Thompson and Lauren Nelson converted PKs, as did Alton's Carrie Bechtold.

Collinsville's Christi Miller and Granite City's Stephanie Kuit alternated in goal all the way through the Games, each playing a half. They also alternated in the PK round and allowed only one successful kick. No surprise there since they each faced a seeming eternity of PKs on the night of June 2 in Granite City when the Lady Kahoks and Lady Warriors both tried to before Collinsville prevailed.

"When it comes time to choose the shooters, you look for the ones who seem anxious," said Briggs. "The ones who keep their heads down you don't want."

stars to serve as ambassadors as much as players.

That would be Magic, Michael and Larry — the holy trinity of hoops — in case you were wondering.

This fall marks the 20th anniversary of Granite City High School's first state title.

The 1972 team is considered the forgotten team in some circles since it was the only state soccer champ from here not coached by Gene Baker. John Sellmeyer coached the team which began the tradition of November celebrations.

to choose. The Collinsville girls are used to success and a lot of them were excited to try.

Granite City's Holly Farnsworth was a standout for the second straight year, scoring two goals and adding two assists in the Games. Alton's Camie Bechtold matched that. The Scholastic Women had two easy wins in pool play, but needed a goal from Granite City's Ginger Henson for a 1-0 win over Pioneer in the second game.

The Scholastic Women now have two golds and three bronzes, with an overall PSG record of 20-3-4.

The Open Men won their third straight gold medal led by Granite City's John Van Buskirk. The Indiana University center-midfielder had three goals and three assists in the four games.

The Open Men now have four golds and two silvers, with an overall PSG mark of 23-5-4.

The Scholastic Men won the gold for the sixth straight year and the eighth time in nine years. Collinsville's Steve Van Dyke and O'Fallon's Blue Reno both scored two goals and an assist in the tournament. Van Dyke had a goal and assisted on Belleville West's Kevin Maxim's winning goal in the 2-1 win over Pioneer which clinched the gold.

The Scholastic Men are the only Southern squad to claim a medal in each of the nine years. They took the bronze in 1986. Their overall mark is 20-1-2.

Press-Record files not being what they once were, we're a little sketchy on information about that team. About all I know is they beat New Trier West 2-1 for the state title at Hancock Stadium in Normal. The state tournament was a four-team event back then. Granite City beat Chicago Senn 4-0 in the semifinals and finished the year with a 23-1 record.

Anyone — preferably team members — who can help with old photos, clippings, personal remembrances, etc., is encouraged to call me at 876-2000.

said Burnett. "Maybe we're getting back that way again. I'll take Drake, Ryan, Chris Hill and Ben Hicks, up against anyone else's staff."

The offense is still sporadic, but there was more than enough Tuesday. Bill Herman, back in the lineup after an ankle injury kept him out for three weeks, was 2-for-2 with two runs scored. He singled to start the second. Wilson blooped a hit to left and Van Buskirk singled home Herman. A wild throw to the plate allowed Wilson to score on the same play.

Herman singled again with two outs in the third. A hit by Cozart, an error by center fielder Louis Dewalt and Wilson's infield hit made it 3-0. Marshall singled with two outs in the sixth and scored on Nunes' double-off the fence.

"I thought 16-5 would be good enough to win the division when the season started," said Burnett. "We set out to be 21-0, and I guess that was unreasonable but I'll take this every year. We maybe got a little spoiled last year with how easy things went. But I'm proud of what these guys have accomplished so far."

Edwardsville and Collinsville will join the Triplets in the four-team double elimination North Division playoffs next Monday through Friday at Varsity Field.

Alton, Highland, East St. Louis, Wood River and Bethalto play single elimination this weekend to determine the fourth team. Pairings and times will appear in Sunday's Press-Record Journal.

'Aces' demonstrates that Bogguss is no bogus artist

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

Country singer Suzy Bogguss finds herself in a good situation as the summer touring season hits full swing. Her current record, "Aces," with its hit singles, "Someday, Soon" and "Outbound Plane," has re-established her as a star. She's also finished her next album, so Bogguss can do her summer concerts without any worries about choosing songs or doing recording sessions. All that remained, as it was beginning her tour earlier this summer, was one slight challenge — finding a title for her record.

"It's driving me crazy," Bogguss said. "The last album had tons of really great titles for an album, and 'Aces' was definitely the most positive and direct. This album, there are a lot of good titles, but not really for what I'm feeling or where I'm at right now. So I may have to just come up with something that is not that connected."

As challenges go, this one isn't too tough. Naming an album, after all, is as nothing compared to the situation she faced prior to the recording of "Aces."

Bogguss, 35, considered "Aces" a sink or swim record. Her 1987 debut, "Somewhere Between," netted her the Academy of Country Music's best new female vocalist award and produced singles with the title cut and "I Want To Be A Cowboy's Sweetheart." But her second album, "Moment of Truth," failed to create many waves.

Cosider also what was happening at her label, Liberty Records (formerly Capitol). "A lot of it was dealing with the fact that the record label changed over, everyone, the whole staff, right at the time when I was really on deck," Bogguss said. "And at that point I had the other team really believing in me, but the new team that came in didn't know me very well and was not totally tuned into what I was doing. It took a little learning time, if you know what I mean."

Bogguss acknowledges that Capitol had not been overly enthusiastic about her "Moment of Truth" record. But she saw a good side to that. "I think that's fine, I mean, because what it did was it spurred me to the better, work harder and not let something that was adequately creative come out of me again," she said.

"The next time I really pushed myself and challenged myself, really," she said. "I think I was just a little bit wishy-washy with the second record."

Bogguss feels that the fact she was working for the first time with producer Jimmy Bowen on "Moment of Truth" also helped to create some of the tentativeness of the record.

Bowen and I didn't know each other," Bogguss said. "We were stepping around each other. And that's when you get problems because instead of just being more up-front and real direct with things, we ended up compromising. I never would have used some of the production things that we used if I had been in control of that like I am now."

"So it had to be that the 'Aces' album, just my feeling on the thing, was I'm going to have to get in here and prove I have something genuine to offer or my term is up," Bogguss said. "So I did, and I feel really happy with the product, and I feel happy with myself because I finally feel like I'm a viable artist." Bogguss said, accenting her remark with a self-effacing chuckle. "I guess a lot of it is just the confidence to know that I do have something to offer."

Besides her appealing twang-free vocals — clearly a reflection of her being from the rural Illinois town of Aledo — one thing Bogguss offers is an approach to country that stretches beyond the basic fiddle and steel guitar sound to embrace elements of rock, soul and other styles.

On "Aces," for instance, the song "Music On the Wind" carries some vaguely Latin percussion, while "Still Hold On" is a country tune with decidedly non-country elements, such as a Hammond organ and an aggressive electric guitar.

"Part of it was just being honest, and a lot of it was just coming down to I have a lot of influences," she said. "I've been struck by many different forms of music over the years. If you saw my record collection, it would blow your mind. It's very wild and wacky, and very diverse. And it just wasn't possible for me to pick one sound and go with it. I have to continue to stimulate myself musically."

Bogguss said she's taken another step forward with her newly completed fourth album, which is tentatively targeted for a fall release. "I'm enjoying the fact that I have a little sound going now, and yet I've challenged myself on the next album as well," she said. "There are things that are on there that are new and have been exciting for me."

"I'm really happy with it," she said. "I feel like it definitely has stayed consistent with the 'Aces' album. And yet I feel like I have taken myself a little further in some ways."

Suzy Bogguss performs as part of the Young Country Round-up July 26 at Riverport Amphitheatre. The 1 p.m. show also features Billy Ray Cyrus, Brooks & Dunn, Trisha Yearwood and Sammy Kershaw. Reserved seats are $20 and $10. Lawn tickets are $12.

Material Issue's music: many influences

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

The members of Material Issue often have said the idea of a perfect album would be one made up entirely of hit singles.

If that sounds like a throwback to a "60s pop way of thinking, it shouldn't be surprising. Material Issue's members are definitely products of '60s pop, as well as some late-'70s power pop groups such as Cheap Trick and The Shoes. The group's music is carried on this tradition of music making.

"We kind of wanted to follow in the footsteps of our power pop forefathers," said bassist Ted Ansani, who along with songwriter/singer/guitarist Jim Ellison and drummer Mike Zelenko make up the Chicago-based band.

"We all come from basic families where our parents had records," Ansani said. "When I was a little kid, my parents would play Beatles records for me. Jim's father had a really extensive collection of 45s — Johnny Cash, Screamin' Jay Hawkins, all kinds of records that would just influence us subliminally."

"I kind of like to think that a couple of songs on the new record have Beatles-type harmonies and A.C./D.C.-type guitar licks — and when I refer to styles," Ansani said, referring to "Destination Universe," Material Issue's second release. "It just sort of incorporated everything we'd been listening to into our music."

But just how close does "Destination Universe" come to fulfilling the album-full-of-singles goal of the band?

"I think we did pretty well," Ansani said. "When we went into the studio, I think we had maybe 16 or 17 songs, and we just kind of trimmed a couple of songs off."

"We were basically aiming so that every song, while we were mixing in our minds, each song was hit potential," he said. "And like these are really cool songs. Any song on the record that you listen to in some way has a great amount of appeal."

"Destination Universe" follows a debut, "International Pop Overthrow," that became one of 1991's college radio favorites, eventually racking up more than 200,000 sales.

It capped what had been a steady climb for the band, which was formed by Ellison and Ansani in 1986 while they were college students in the Chicago area. Zelenko was soon recruited through a newspaper ad.

Throughout the early years, the group adopted a do-it-yourself approach, driving themselves to gigs on weekends and recording and selling self-made tapes to help spread the word about the music.

"We never really expected that we were going to get signed at any particular time," Ansani said. "But we kind of had it in the back of our minds. If we kept at it someone was going to find us and we turned on the radio who could help us out in the long run."

That "someone" turned out to be Mercury Records, which eventually heard the group's tapes, compiled 14 of the best tracks and released them in their original form as "International Pop Overthrow."

"We were very happily surprised," Ansani said. "International Pop Overthrow's success. We didn't expect to do even that well. But we were out on the road touring and things just happened. And by the time we got out of the West Coast, we were selling out shows and just booming."

Material Issue headlines a July 26 concert at Mississippi Nights. Tickets for the 9 p.m. show are $7 in advance.
